Children's Colds

"Doctor please come to see the baby, he had a dreadful cold for several days, and has high fever now," said the distressed voice over the phone.

"Where did the little one acquire his cold?" querried the physician, when he saw that six-year old Mary's nose was running and she was hovering over the helpless infant kissing him.

"Oh, I don't know, the rest of the children had them first, but they were not so sick as the baby. The servant let the cold wind blow on baby, and he caught an awful cold."

A cold is always an infection. A baby has acquired no immunity, as have adults. When children are born, they are entirely free from bacteria, which are found in the noses and throats of sufferers from colds. If they are kept away from these germs, they would never develop colds.

The Eskimos of the Artics were strong, healty people, who did not know what colds were until the white men invaded their territory, and carried them various infections, including the cold germs. Their physical risistance was lowered, many of them died from the effects of colds, and other diseases carried by the traders.

The cold organism is so small that it will pass through the finest filter. Once the cold is established, many dangerous forms of bacteria can be demonstrated by the microscope in the secretions. Often the apparently innocent cold develops dangerous symptoms, due to the presence of pus and poison-forming germs, such as the pneumocci and streptococci.

It is a common occurence for the child to develop sinus or middle ear infections, which may cause serious and far - reaching effects. Even pneumonia, meningitis and other ills tread upon the heels of a cold.

Remember, the small child catches cold very readily through being kissed, fondled or otherwise exposed at close range to one who is suffering from a cold.

If your child wakes up in the morning with a cold, do not bundle him off to the kindergarten, or to school, where he will infect other children. Keep him at home, and give him proper treatment; his recovery will be hastened and he will avoid complications.

See that your child spends the requisite number of hours in sleep. Give him a well-proportioned and body-building diet. Do not keep the rooms hot and close. Give him a proper amount of sunshine and fresh air. Then, first and last, guard against infection.

BIG GAME TAGS REVEAL SIZE OF KILL

Big game tags returned to the Virginia Game Commission indicate that the legal deer harvest in counties west of the Blue Ridge during the November 17-22 season reached an all-time record of 13,400 animals, according to R. H. Cross, Jr., Commission game edivision chief.

A week of good weather permitted hunters to get into the forests on all six days, thus hunter success was higher than usual and the preseason kill predication figures were exceeded by the actual kill.

Leading counties as far as numbers are concerned were Shenandoah 2,487; Bath, 1,730; Augusta, 1,600; Rockingham, 1,146; Frederick, 1,022; Craig, 749, and Giles, 709.

This record harvest is still well within the limits that the deer herd can stand, Cross emphasized. The deer harvest in this section of the state could easily reach 18,000 deer annually, Cross said.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

More than five million veterans who hold participating GI life insurance will share in regular annual policy dividends totaling $256,000,000 during 1959, Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs announced.

Mr. Whittier said the dividends are primarily a refund to policyholders of part of their premium payments, and are made possible because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the tables upon which the premiums were established by law.

The dividend declarations were listed as:

1. National Service Life Insurance (NSLI), which originated in World War II; $235,000,000 payable to approximately 4,950,000 policyholders.

2. U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI), which originated in World War I; $21,000,000 payable to approximately 285,000 policyholders.

The 1959 SSLI and USGLI regular dividends are, respectively, $5,000,000 and $1,000,000 less than were declared for 1958, Mr. Whittier said.

However, he explained, individual policyholders will generally receive about the same amount as during 1958, since the number of GI policies in force declines between one and two per cent each year.

Dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy during 1959. For example, if a policy was issued any September 1, the aninversary date will be September 1, 1959, Mr. Whittier pointed out.

Policyholders should not make dividend inquiries in advance, since this would delay processing time.

The typical man's suit requires less fabric than it used to. A few years ago manufactures used about 3 ½ yards of material in an average suit. Now, because of the shift away from matching vests and the double-breasted suits, the average is closer to 3 yards.
